Cardinal Mooney Succumbs in Rome

Detroit Archbishop Stricken As He Prepared for Conclave

Rome — Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, died of a heart ailment today less than an hour before he was to take part in the sacred conclave to elect a new pope. He was 76.

Cardinal Mooney—the second cardinal to die since the death of Pope Pius XII—attended this morning's Mass of the Holy Spirit at St. Peter's basilica where the princes of the church asked Divine guidance in choosing a new leader of the Roman Catholic church.

He appeared well at lunch time. Then he collapsed as he was about to lie down for a rest after lunch.

The Rev. Joseph Tucek, head of the National Catholic Welfare Councilmen's service in Rome, said the cardinal "must have been excited" because of the impending conclave.

Cardinal Mooney was given the last rites of the church—extreme unction—by his private secretary, Msgr. Joseph Breitenbeck. The cardinal was pronounced dead at 2:30 p. m. (7:50 a. m., CST) by Dr. Filippo Rocchi.

U. C. Cardinals Present
The two remaining U. S. cardinals, Francis Spellman of New York and James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles, were with him when he died. They had been summoned to his bedside after his attack.

Cardinal Mooney died at the pontifical North American college overlooking Rome from Janiculum hill.

Cardinal Mooney was installed as archbishop of Detroit in 1937 and one of the first matters to confront him was the outspoken parish priest and radio broadcaster, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.

Father Coughlin, whose parish was in Royal Oak, Mich., spoke out on economic and political questions in the United States, causing widespread controversy. When Father Coughlin criticized President Roosevelt's Washington appointments and the CIO, Archbishop Mooney let it be known that Father Coughlin's opinions did not reflect the attitude of the church.

Cardinal Mooney said Father Coughlin had uttered "unfortunate words" and subsequently Father Coughlin canceled his broadcasts.

Cardinal Mooney said he was overwhelmed and overjoyed at selection for the world's top literary award. A cable received in Stockholm said he hoped to go to the Swedish capital Dec. 10 for presentation of the award and the $41,420 that goes with it.

Moscow Charges Nobel Award Plot Against Soviet Union

Moscow — The Soviet Union charged today the award of the 1958 Nobel prize for literature to Boris Pasternak was a cold war plot against Russia.

The Literary Gazette said the award announced Thursday in Stockholm was "a Pasternak hostile political act directed against the Soviet state." This was the first official Russian comment on the award.

The Swedish Academy of Letters voted the prize to Pasternak for his novel "Doctor Zhivago," which sharply criticizes life in Russia under the communists. A best-seller abroad, the novel has been withheld from publication inside the Soviet Union.

Pasternak said in an interview he did not believe the Nobel prize would mean publication of his novel at home, but neither did he expect to be affected adversely because of the attention focused by the award, the 68-year-old poet and translator added.

Pasternak said he was overwhelmed and overjoyed at selection for the world's top literary award. A cable received in Stockholm said he hoped to go to the Swedish capital Dec. 10 for presentation of the award and the $41,420 that goes with it.

Peace with Honor Key Issue, Nixon Says at Oshkosh Stop

Vice President Serious in His Wisconsin Tour

Remembers Names, Warmly Greets State Audiences

Eau Claire — The man regarded by most Americans as a shoo-in for the next Republican presidential nomination stumped Wisconsin Friday—with evidently satisfactory results.

Vice President Richard Nixon talked to fair sized and appreciative crowds at Madison, Oshkosh and Eau Claire, on a national campaign tour which represents an urgent campaign to stem an apparent Democratic tide he takes no pains to hide.

Incidentally, it provides the country a chance to size up the man who, after six years in office, is perhaps the odds-on choice of the party's politicians today for the 1960 presidential nomination after President Eisenhower bows out.

Curiosity Value
Wisconsin reporters who were carried on the airliner which transported Nixon and his party get the impression that it was Nixon's curiosity value, as much as his message, which attracted the audiences.

An Eau Claire press conference last night turned into a public meeting as more than 100 persons turned out in a region which is sparsely populated by journalists.

Nixon showed considerable charm and skill in the ordinary political tasks, in greeting the audiences.

Ike Asks Ban on Nuclear Weapons Tests for Year

Washington — President Eisenhower called on Russia today to join the United States and Britain in banning all nuclear weapons tests for one year beginning six days hence.

Eisenhower issued the call after meeting with Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, head of the American delegation which will negotiate with the Soviets in Geneva on an inspection system to police such a ban.

The president's statement noted that both Britain and the United States had announced their readiness to stop testing atomic-hydrogen weapons for a year beginning with the start of these negotiations Oct. 31.

Russia has been carrying out an extensive series of nuclear tests during the last few weeks after ending its own self-imposed ban.

Eisenhower, in discussing this problem, said: "It thus lies with the Soviet Union to decide whether on Oct. 31 all countries which have tested nuclear weapons will have voluntarily suspended testing."

35 Injured in Ottawa Blast

Explosion Likened To Devastation Resembling War

Ottawa — A shattering blast of mysterious origin today wrecked buildings in the heart of this Canadian metropolis, injuring about 35 persons and causing devastation reminiscent of wartime scenes.

There were conflicting reports on deaths. First word was that the explosion—possibly from natural gas or a boiler—had taken several lives. Police said they had no reports of any dead.

Some Reported Trapped
Initial estimates listed damage at more than two million dollars in the Bank Slater streets of downtown Ottawa. Windows were blown out for miles in every direction.

Badly hit by the shock was the 9-story Jackson building, containing government offices. Many other smaller structures were shattered.

Police and firemen dug feverishly into ruins. An unidentified ambulance driver was quoted as saying some persons were trapped in the rubble of a building owned by Myers Motors, Ltd.

The area around the Jackson building was cordoned off. Police said they had no reports of any dead.

Vatican City — Unexpected death reduced the ranks of cardinals about to choose a new supreme pontiff today, but the princes of the church began assembling at the Vatican palace for solemn pre-conclave rites as scheduled.

Less than an hour before the cardinals were to begin the conclave rites, Edward Cardinal Mooney, 76-year-old archbishop of Detroit, collapsed and died.

Attended Mass Today
His death came at the North American college of Rome's Janiculum hill where he had been staying since his arrival Tuesday.

Cardinal Mooney's death reduced to 51 the number of cardinals who will elect the new pope, and to 33 the total number of the college, 17 below its full strength. Two cardinals behind the Iron Curtain are unable to attend.

There are now only two American cardinals, Francis Spellman of New York and James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles.

Cardinal Mooney, along with 47 of his colleagues, had attended the Mass of the Holy Spirit at St. Peter's basilica this morning in preparation for the conclave.

The scheduled hour was 3:30 p. m. Cardinal Mooney's death came 40 minutes before the assembly.

By the appointed hour, almost all the other 51 cardinals

Estes Arrives In Wisconsin

Kefauver Chides Nixon; Cites GOP Trouble on Coast

Madison — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said Friday night that Vice President Richard Nixon "should rush back to California if he wants to do anything for Republican candidates."

The Tennessee senator arrived here a few hours after Nixon had made a speech on the statehouse steps to open a 4-day midwest tour in support of GOP candidates. It was Kefauver's second appearance in the state since the primary election in September.

He spoke at the Labor temple by Satorius' attorney.

Satorius was arrested about 11:20 p. m. Oct. 11 by Appleton police in the 100 block of W. Eighth street. Police said he was driving erratically.

Satorius refused to take the drunkometer test.

Rescue Efforts Continue at Mine

Springhill, Nova Scotia — Rescue teams inched today down a debris-choked mine shaft heavy with poisonous gas toward 81 men trapped and possibly killed by an explosive shift of rock. Twelve others are known dead.

A mine official said there was a very remote hope that some of the trapped miners might be found alive but nothing had been heard since the accident Thursday night to indicate there were more survivors.

Cites 6 Years Of Progress Under GOP

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh — The vice president of the United States and the political deputy of President Eisenhower came to the center of this solidly Republican district Friday to explain what he described is the prime issue of the times for Americans.

Higher social security and higher agricultural prices and the tax burden on Americans are important, conceded Vice President Richard M. Nixon to a cordial audience at the Oshkosh county airport.

Keep The Peace
But surpassing them all in importance, he insisted, is "to find a way to keep the peace of the United States and to keep it with honor and without surrender."

Nixon was greeted by a crowd of about 3,000 which appeared more receptive to his speech than did others on a Wisconsin stumping trip which included similar stops at Madison and Eau Claire during a long day.

The vice president plugged for the reelection of Rep. William K. Van Pelt of the Sixth district and fondly described his old friendship with Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay of the Eighth district both of whom are running for new terms.

Nixon generally repeated the peace and prosperity themes he has been hitting hard during an extensive campaign trip around the country.

The American people have made more economic progress during the six years of the Republican administration than during any other period in history, he said repeatedly.

Resisted Appeasement
At the same time the administration has maintained peace in a difficult world and has resisted appeasement of the communist international movement. Firmness will continue to win the peace, he said, arguing that to surrender Quemoy and Matsu off the Chinese mainland would inevitably end in the loss of Formosa and the disabling of the American and free world positions in the whole Pacific area.

Fox river valley Republican leaders and workers turned out in force to greet the man who is usually regarded as the heir to President Eisenhower in Republican party leadership.

Nixon called Gov. Vernon W. Thomson "one of the best governors in the country" and urged the election of Roland Stenle, the Republican's senatorial nominee.

He appealed for help for Republican candidates in a campaign in which the Democrats are generally believed to be making gains.

It is not enough, he warned, for those who agree with the

Sees Victory In November For Democrats

Sen. Frank Church
Tells Audience GOP
Luster Wears Off

Idaho's youthful Democrat-ic Sen. Frank Church sees a sweep for his party at the polls next month.

Speaking before a gathering of Outagamie county Democrats at the Conway hotel Friday noon, the young senator said, "The luster is wearing off the Republican movement and the American voter has been the first to realize it."

In the midst of a campaign tour which has taken him across the country and into Alaska, Church said he has found an increasing transition of party affiliation from Republican to Democrat.

"There are three reasons for this change," Church declared.

He cited:

1. Progress and reform of previous Democratic administrations.

2. Responsible and constructive role the Democratic-controlled congress has played in enacting legislation with a Republican chief executive.
3. Republican failure to solve the major problems of the day.

"The Democratic party," Church told his audience, "has always been the party of progress and reform. The party has instigated housing laws, it has obtained higher unemployment compensation for jobless workers and it has created better social security benefits for the country's older citizens. And never forget the Democratic party is now, and always has been, a friend of the farmer."

Stiff Opposition

"We have brought about these reforms, almost without exception, in the face of the stiffest kind of opposition from the Republicans," he declared.

Church said he found many Americans have been impressed by what he called "Democratic willingness to cooperate with the Republican executive branch of government during these past years."

"This is in vivid, striking contrast to Republican opposition when the situation was reversed," he contended.

"The Republicans cried government by stalemate but they and the country found such wasn't the case. This session of congress has passed a volume of legislation—good legislation. We've supported the president whenever we believed his objectives were in line with the objectives of the Democratic party. We've opposed him when his objectives were not in line."

Taxpayer Association Question Halts Talks

Decision Delayed
On Public Works
$933,410 Budget

A question by Gregory A. Schulte, of Appleton Taxpayers association, Friday caused budget committeemen to postpone decision on the $933,410 public works budget.

Schulte pointed out that the $933,410 sought is $76,000 more than Director Edwin J. Duszynski estimated for spending this year for the same purposes.

And, he said, the estimate of spending is highly questionable because all estimates for the last three months of the year are rounded off, most of the time representing a total demand on the budgeted amount even though the demand of the last three months is higher than was spent in the first nine months.

Duszynski said rounding off could be defended in some instances, but for the most part represents guesses which he wouldn't defend.

$26,430 in Salary

A tabulation during an adjournment shows the salary accounts of all public works budgets total $450,430, an increase of $26,430 over predicted expenses this year.

Schulte and some committeemen took the position that since enlargement of crews is not sought, the increase by that much is unwarranted.

The accounts were under consideration about two hours before the committee adjourned until Thursday night after the regular finance committee meeting.

In the interim, Duszynski and Street Chairman Ald. Roy Pointer are to go over the accounts, salaries in particular.

These are the budgets as presented by Duszynski and Pointer:

Engineering department, $67,730. Increase of $6,880 over this year's budget and of $8,190 over estimated spending this year. Surplus of $1,310 expected.

Street Repair

Sewer and catch basin maintenance, $34,400. Increase of $2,400 budgeted and of $1,500 spent this year. Deficit of $900.

Street department building, $63,400. Increase of $400 budgeted and of $10,000 over spending. Surplus of $9,600.

Street repair, $47,500. Same as this year, but $7,000 over spending. Surplus of $7,000.

Bridges, $30,750. Increase of $750 budgeted and of $3,100

Foreign Policy on the Stump

The apparent splits among both Republican and Democratic bigwigs about the ethics of using foreign policy as an issue in the political campaign is a rather foolish fight. Everyone knows that all policies will be hemmed and hawed about, haggled over, dissected, applauded and decried. It is a basic right of American voters to discuss, however erroneously, the various comings and goings of the people in power and those who want to be.

The recent hassle began when the Democrats made some expected slurring remarks about the situations in the Middle East and the Formosa straits and repeated that old bugaboo about our being on the brink. President Eisenhower, undoubtedly in the throes of foreign struggles rather than election worries, deplored bringing foreign policy into a "partisan debate." Vice-President Nixon protested that the failure of Republicans to stand up for their policies and philosophies was part of their undoing and Sec. Dulles took first one side and then the other. Eventually both the president and Mr. Dulles came around to Mr. Nixon's viewpoint.

In the meantime the Democrats were going through much the same sort of brouhaha. Mr. Truman had admitted that the discussion of foreign policy under our form of government "is necessary" but warned that "we must be careful not to give the Communists ground for believing that we are a divided people." Then Adlai Stevenson, avidly campaigning already for the 1960 nomination, insisted in Milwaukee that foreign policy was a most worthy political topic.

Much of all this goes back to the idealism of a bipartisan foreign policy which may work in time of actual war but which obviously is pushed aside when a political campaign is underway. This may not be good common sense; obviously preventing a war may be just as important as winning one, but the matter of human nature has to be considered. We cannot expect the Democrats not to attack the unsettled conditions of the last few years any more than we may expect the Republicans to refrain from pointing out under whose administration the Korean "police action" was terminated.

Of course the American people do not decide foreign policy by popular decision any more than they should decide all domestic policy. To some extent there is coherence and continuity in the conducting of our foreign affairs no matter who is in the White House or who is majority leader in Congress. But Americans in the long run must accept the responsibility for what their government does whether it is in agriculture or labor laws or foreign aid. We repeat that this is both the weakness and the strength of democracy. The balance must be maintained but the scales must tip in favor of some degree of public opinion, or all the wars, all the arguments, all the graves with military crosses were in vain.

The best thing that has come out of these various inter-party struggles is the emergence of Mr. Nixon as a sound advocate of firmness, courage and strength. As he pointed out to President Eisenhower, "differences over long-range policy can and ought to be discussed. . . in political campaigns. . . I intend to continue to answer the attacks on our policy by responsible members of the opposition." Mr. Stevenson said much the same thing but the point of view is more courageous in Mr. Nixon who represents the party in power.

Lower Taxes, Higher Returns

All business men know that if prices are raised beyond a certain point business falls off. This limit on price increases is known as the point of diminishing returns. The same rule may be applied to taxes. Everyone "knows" that if taxes are raised to a certain level they tend to be evaded and collections are less. Everyone "knows" this but not everyone believes it, especially not the members of Congress. Congressmen appear to believe that taxes are collected by force and that there is no limit to the point at which they may be fixed short of taking everything.

The extent to which this opinion is in error has been clearly demonstrated recently by the Austrian government. Sylvia Porter, the financial writer, recently published some interesting facts about Austria's experience with income tax collections. She reports that Austria has recently put into effect its third tax reduction in four years. After each reduction the Austrian government's income from taxes increased rapidly and this of course made succeeding reductions possible.

Austria was occupied by allied troops for years after the close of World War II. Since the occupation ended and the troops departed in 1955 the economic improvement in Austria has been nothing short of dramatic. In 1954 Austria adopted a series of across-the-board tax cuts which gave relief to individuals and corporations. In that year it received from income taxes $729,000,000. In 1955, after the reduction, the government received $791,000,000. That year she adopted a second tax reduction and by 1957 the tax take was up to $996,000,000. Now, in 1958, it has adopted the third tax reduction. This reduction favors the middle and lower income taxpayers and especially working couples but it also includes major relief for corporations and exempts from stock dividends up to $144.

Miss Porter points out that Austria couldn't have achieved her recovery without our help. The Marshall Plan was very important in her comeback and admittedly she couldn't have done the job without strong financial management. But the real lesson to be learned from Austria relates to her handling of the tax problem. In the United States the income tax is recognized as approaching confiscation. There are many who believe that the income might be increased if we lowered our rates. However, this has been difficult to sell to Congress and there has been no experiment on it. We push right ahead with our highest rates and refuse to reduce them in spite of the fact that there is plenty of evidence that to do so would increase business and therefore increase our federal revenue. Another good example is the tax on liquor. This tax has been pointed out repeatedly to invite bootlegging and the great quantities of liquor put on the market without paying any tax. To lower the tax many believe would crowd the bootlegger out because there would be good, sanitary liquor available in sealed bottles under the lower tax.

It is well to talk about economy in government but apparently there is very little chance of any important economy until the world settles down under conditions of peace. In the meantime, the government is going to need more revenue continually. A good idea would be to lower the taxes with the idea of stimulating business and thereby increasing the national income.

Nasser Can't Unite the Arabs

Gamal Abdel Nasser is still the hero of a large part of the Arab world, but many of his followers must be growing a bit disillusioned with his efforts to unify Arabs against all comers.

His unconscionable interference in the affairs of his neighbors has added little to his prestige at home or abroad. Although he denies it, he encouraged murder and rebellion; yet Lebanon and Jordan stay outside his axis.

Tunisia broke off relations last week with the United Arab Republic. "I am western, and I will remain so," President Habib Bourguiba told the Tunisian assembly. He accused Egyptians of plotting his assassination and sheltering his enemies. He also said in reference to Nasser's flirtation with the communists:

Once the Iron Curtain drops, there is no escape from communism. On the other hand, it is possible, no matter what the time, to leave the western camp.

It's a safe bet that no Moslem ruler, any more than Christian, will knowingly go into the Soviet mousetrap. That applies to Nasser as much as to any other. Every deal he makes to harass the West contains danger to himself. So Nasser is likely to continue his "positive neutrality" while he looks in vain for Arab unity.

Most Wretched Way to Quit Smoking Recorded in England

From The Louisville Courier-Journal

One of the least appealing houseparties ever recorded took place recently on Britain's Isle of Wight. The guests were a dozen men and women bent on giving up smoking. For that grim purpose they provided themselves with three doctors to lecture them on the evils of tobacco, and a corps of journalists to record their sufferings.

Some slight enlivenment may have been afforded by the evening sessions conducted by a hypnotist, in which he used his powers to suggest that smoking is a vile and vulgar habit. Some may even have taken a twisted pleasure in the words of a London psychoanalyst. He described smoking as "a consolation for tension and insecurity," and suggested that a person needing such compensation 25 or 30 times a day is perilously insecure. Another doctor lectured on lung cancer.

The worst part, however, must have been the air of suspicion that hung over the gathering. Nobody dared to leave the room without being accused of sneaking out for a guilty puff. Somebody had filled all the ashtrays to the brim with peppermints. This must have caused agony among those who wanted to give up smoking, but not at the cost of gaining surplus pounds.

It would be enlightening to know how the guests behaved, once they broke away from their weekend moorings. Some may well have followed the suggestion planted by H. G. Strauss, parliamentary secretary of the board of trade. He told a recent audience: "I have every sympathy with the American who was so horrified by what he had read about the effects of smoking that he gave up reading."

County Board Handling of Airport Issue Recalled

Parallel in Approach to UW Extension

BY E. L. BISELX
Post-Crescent News Editor

A parallel is developing in the Outagamie county board's handling of the proposal to erect a University of Wisconsin Extension division building in the Fox Cities.

Many Fox Cities people interested in having a state university to serve the young people of this area today are recalling the similar handling by a former Outagamie county board of the proposal to build a first class airport on a Calumet county site back in 1944.

The action, or lack of action, and the opposition of many board members of the day resulted in a 15-year delay in acquiring commercial airline service for the Fox Cities and an inferior airport far from ideally located.

Outagamie Beaten
Instead, Brown and Winnebago leaders who trailed behind leaders of Outagamie county in vision, developed their airports first and consequently were certified for airline service years ahead of Outagamie. The resulting loss of business which could have been developed if the Fox Cities had an adequate airport cannot be measured.

Today, some members of a new county board are opposing the UW development unless the building is erected within the borders of Outagamie county, although the board adopted a resolution stating only that the site must be "suitable" to the Outagamie county board.

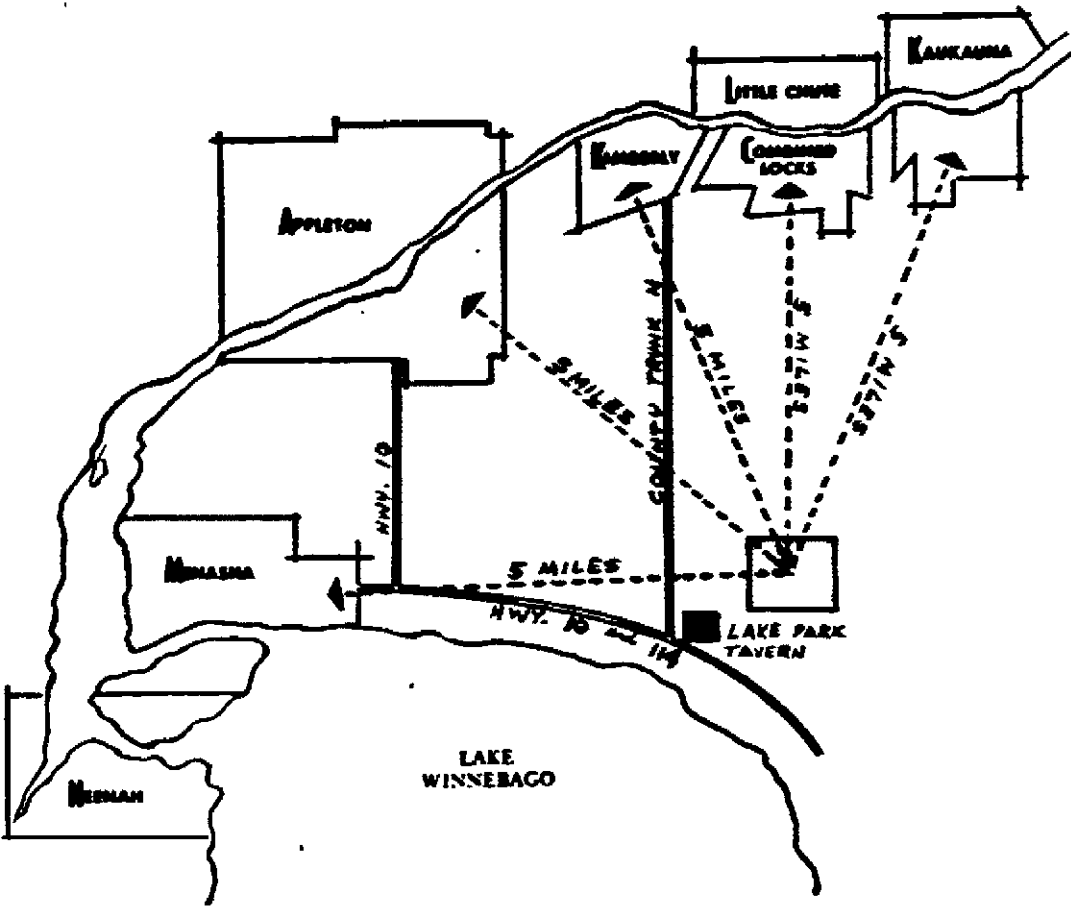

Many backers of the UW project feel this attitude is jeopardizing the chances of getting this much desired education unit for the Fox Cities.

Voters Farsighted
The voters in 1944 were somewhat more farsighted than some of the supervisors, for they approved the Calumet county airport site by a margin of 8,305 to 3,684. Appleton voters gave the port land acquisition a 4,913 or 1,894 margin.

The land picked for the site is just off Highway 10, north of Lake Winnebago and, if the airport had been built it would have formed the hub of a wheel with the rim formed by the Fox Cities. The spokes would be approximately five air miles reaching to Menasha, Appleton, Little Chute, Kimberly and Kaukauna.

After the 1944 referendum victory, however, the county fathers did not make the money available. Instead options on almost 400 acres of land were tossed out the window. Outagamie county got lost in the prop wash as nearby communities surged ahead.

'Can't Haul Hay'
The county had an airport, the same one as now, and supervisors felt it was adequate. As one of them put it: "You can't haul hay in an airplane." Because this port was not adequate for commercial service, business and industrial groups got together in the futile attempt to develop a port that would attract airlines and air business. It took two years of study and promotion to come up with what appeared to be the ideal site in Calumet county. It was readily accessible to the Fox Cities; the land was favorable from a topographical standpoint, and good highways led to it from every direction.

This Is a Sketch of What might have been if the Outagamie county board had heeded the mandate of the voters in 1944 to purchase a mile square Calumet county site for a new Outagamie county airport. The proposed site is just north of Lake Winnebago and forms the hub of a wheel with the Fox Cities forming the rim, each of the communities about five miles from the port.

There was a desultory effort by the county board to fulfill the wishes of the voters but there was a concentrated effort by some supervisors to make the airport dream come true. But their moves met with opposition of the majority and, eventually frustrating failure, resignation and abolition of the airport committee.

Carried on Fight
On May 5, 1944, the board appropriated $5,000 to secure options on the land and created a 7-man airport development committee. Aaron Zerbel was named chairman and he carried on the fight for airport development until his death in a plane crash near Janesville in 1950.

By Oct. 27, 1944, the committee had obtained options on 395 acres of land with the agreed purchase price of $67,900 and was negotiating for still another 245 acres. It was hinted that it might be necessary to begin condemnation proceedings to get some of the required land.

Then, on March 28, 1945, the committee asked the board for $20,000 so that it could "talk business" on some of the land on which no options had been obtained. The county board said "no" by a 31 to 19 vote, although the previous November it had authorized preparation of plans by a 26 to 25 vote.

Mandate Forgotten
So, after less than a year, the voice of the people could not be heard very clearly in the county board room. As more time passed, it became increasingly evident that their desires did not coincide with those of their representatives who controlled the purse strings.

On Sept. 11, 1945, the county board accepted the resignation of the airport development committee, 34 to 19, and then proceeded to abol-

Democrats Still Holding Congressional Lead

BY ELMO ROPER
AND ASSOCIATES

Democrats are keeping a firm hold on their congressional lead gained early this year. These nationwide figures, gathered at the midpoint of the fall campaigning, show the Democrats with a solid voting margin of 16 percentage points.

In the Congressional elections this fall, which party will you be most likely to vote for, the Democratic or the Republican?

	October	Summer
	1958	1958
Democratic	47	46
Republican	31	30
Will split ticket (volunteered)	8	9

Don't know or won't vote 14 15

This means that of the voters who have made up their minds about the coming elections, 60 per cent are planning to vote Democratic, 40 per cent Republican.

Democrats are now clearly ahead in most sections of the country, including regions normally Republican in sentiment. While many local factors were involved, the Maine elections, held in September, never the less gave the nation the first voting evidence that even the traditionally Republican northeast had not proved immune to this year's Democratic tide, and today's figures confirm that fact. In two other sections of the country, the far west and of course the south, the Democrats are not only ahead, they are way ahead. Only the midwest reports the Republicans in the lead, and there the race is very close.

The Far Eastern situation 20
The Middle Eastern situation 16
Inflation, recession 59
High cost of living 41
Unemployment 32

	Northeast	Midwest	South	Far West
%	%	%	%	%
Dem.	42	38	60	50
Rep.	35	42	15	34
Will split ticket (volunteered)	11	11	4	6
Don't know or won't vote	12	9	21	10

This show of Democratic strength is impressive even in an off year when the "outs" normally gain some congressional seats.

What are the issues that are preoccupying people's minds and causing their votes to turn in a Democratic direction? Today's survey, taken just one year after the sputniks and while a delicate and dangerous situation in the Formosa straits was posing a new threat to world peace, revealed that the public is concerned, above all, with the turbulent area of international relations. But domestic problems are also at the forefront of the public consciousness.

Would you look over this list and tell me which you think are the two or three most important problems facing the nation today?

	Pct.
International relations	69
Keeping the country at peace	46

School integration 32
Keeping up our military strength 24
Keeping corruption out of government 21
Atomic testing 11
Don't know 2

The key to this year's voting pattern appears to lie in the strong Democratic impact of most domestic issues which is not countered by an equal and opposite Republican impact on international questions. Here are the voting divisions of those people who named the high cost of living, unemployment, or school integration as primary national issues.

	%	%	%	%
Will Vote Democratic	47	54	51	49
Will Vote Republican	31	24	30	28
Will Split Ticket, Don't Know or Won't Vote	22	22	19	23

On all these domestic issues, the Democrats are apparently thought by the publish the committee altogether by a 27 to 26 vote. But the air-minded element on the board did not give up — despite getting soaked on the chin repeatedly. On Nov. 13, 1945, it failed in its effort to get an appropriation for airport development into the budget. Later, before the final adoption of the budget, the board defeated a proposed $84,000 appropriation by a 36 to 13 vote.

The Calumet county project was dead, and with it all the hopes for a really first-rate port adequate to meet the needs of the area.

Looking Backward

Mill Worker Has Narrow Escape

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Oct. 25, 1879.

James Meagher, a lad of 16 or 17 years of age, whose home is in the Fourth ward, and who is in the employ of the Iron Company, had a narrow escape from serious injury, if not instant death.

He was assisting in unloading some ore cars, which were elevated to the new trestle work at the furnace. The car was moved to the front where it was desired to discharge it. The lad seized the wheel on the top of the upright rod which connects with the brake for the purpose of stopping the car and in this effort he threw himself backward to secure greater leverage when the wheel came off in his hand and he was violently precipitated through the trestle work to the planking beneath, a distance of 10 feet.

25 YEARS AGO

Walter M. Singler, state president of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool, and Paul Weiss, Barnum, a member of the pool's executive committee, left that morning for Madison where they planned to call at Gov. A. G. Schmedeman's office to discuss the farm strike situation.

Samuel Sigman, Appleton, attorney for the Appleton Trades and Labor Council, and Jacob Stephan, international representative of the Paper Makers and Pulp Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers' International union, was to speak at an open meeting Sunday evening at Neenah Eagles hall.

lie to have an edge; on solving unemployment problems, the preference for the Democrats is pronounced. But when we turn to foreign affairs, where the Republicans in recent years have had the advantage, we find those people who named "keeping the peace" as an important issue dividing exactly like the nation as a whole in their voting preferences: 47 per cent plan to vote Democratic, 31 per cent Republican, with the remainder making no party choice.

This picture that emerges is thus one: the nation's voters, worried over a recession that despite rising economic indices has not yet faded away and an inflation that shows no signs of departing, are inclined to turn to the party that brought them through the depression of the 1930's. The conviction held by many in recent years that the Republicans were more likely to keep the nation out of international trouble does not seem to be operating this year as a deterrent to Democratic votes. The result: A strong swing to the party out of power, in pursuit of this decade's elusive dream, a stable peace and a firm prosperity. (Copyright 1958)

State Prepares to Unveil Fox Program

Many Sportsmen Take Dim View Of Department's Plan to Send Teams of Teachers to Farmers

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Editor

Hunters who are wondering how pheasants planted in September can disappear by October should be interested to know that the conservation department appears ready to unveil its substitute for the bounty payment plan on wildlife predators.

The department's position is that foxes (the major predator in this region) do not kill pheasants—at least not enough to be concerned about.

It intends, therefore, to send teams of extension trappers into the hinterlands to teach interested farmers and others how to trap and destroy wild animals doing damage to their poultry or other livestock.

Killed Bounties
Wisconsin's bounty program was killed by the legislature last year at the insistence of the department.

County game clubs and sportsmen convening at the spring meetings this year took a dim view of the department's ideas. Many counties, in fact, sent off resolutions, pleas, that the bounty program be restored. The Outagamie county club was among those who want bounties. But the department, evidently, has no intention of turning off its course.

The teacher program, it insists, "worked well in Missouri."

Spokesmen for the department continue to tell sportsmen foxes are no threat to pheasants or partridge.

Fox Kills
This writer hunted pheasants on the opening weekend in a county in western Wisconsin in which 2,000 birds had been planted. Hunting was very poor.

We personally found eight separate piles of pheasant feathers around which were fox droppings. We found these without looking for them—just coming across them as we drove various fields.

Now the conservation department may not look upon this as evidence that foxes kill pheasants but this writer does. If you can find evidence of eight fox kills without looking, consider how many more there must be at various points throughout a field.

Sportsmen in western Wisconsin are openly contemptuous of the conservation department and its outlook on the fox problem. This writer is inclined to similar feeling.

Not Whole Answer

Not even the most avowed supporter of the bounty program will say it is an answer to a disappearing pheasant population. They do say, however, that it is better than nothing and that is the estimate these sportsmen place on the value of the department's new plan.

"The extension trappers will demonstrate a simple technique developed by the U.S. fish and wildlife service during its many years of predator control work. It is a highly effective method on either foxes or coyotes and can be learned in a matter of minutes," the department relates.

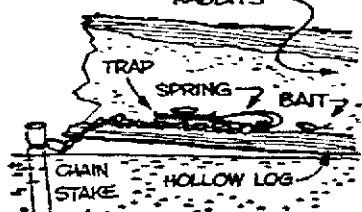

Now any professional fox trapper will agree that it is relatively easy to trap a fox once you learn how. Learning the system, however, is only a small part of the whole operation.

Consider the pro who would set 50 to 75 traps for foxes. These sets, once they are made, require almost constant care in order to produce. A fox is not a stupid animal. A careless fox trapper is never a successful one.

Thus, a farmer once he has learned the system, obtained equipment and set his traps must devote a certain amount of time to tending the traps if he hopes to catch any foxes.

AVOID RABBITS IN FUR TRAPPING
PLUG OTHER END TO EXCLUDE RABBITS

THIS DIAGRAM SHOWS HOW TO SET A TRAP FOR SKUNK, COON, AND OPOSSUM. BAIT IS NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY BECAUSE THESE FUR BEARERS LIKE TO EXPLORE HOLLOW LOGS. BAIT (A CANNED SARDINE IS EXCELLENT!) WILL LURE THESE FUR BEARERS TO YOUR TRAP—IT THUS ATTRACTS WEASELS, ALSO.

SHAKING ROTTEN WOOD AND LEAVES OVER TRAP AND CHAIN IMPROVES SUCCESS IN TRAPPING COON, BUT THIS IS UNNECESSARY FOR TAKING THE OTHERS.

RABBITS ENTER LOGS IF OPEN AT BOTH ENDS, SO PLUG ONE END.

Tree Order Blanks Ready, Forester Says

Conservation department tree order blanks are available for 1959 plantings, Ronald Herman, Outagamie county forester, said today.

The trees can be used for reforestation, erosion control, shelter belts, windbreaks and wildlife cover, he stated. Regulations forbid use of the trees for landscaping or decoration.

Seedling available include black locust, white ash, hard maple, jack pine, Norway pine, white cedar, white pine, white spruce and Norway spruce.

The department expects to plant about 35 million trees in the state this year, Herman said. Trees are available on a first-come, first-serve basis. No order can be made for less than 500 trees. They are priced from $10 to $30 per thousand.

Blanks are available at soil conservation, county extension, ASC and foresters' offices.

This writer will have to go along with the bounty system until something better is proposed. The current plan of the conservation department appears to have too many shortcomings.

Residents on Lake in Waushara County Get Lecture on Policies

Wanted Free Sports Fish Planting But Wouldn't Provide Access Point

Instead of the free sports fish planting for which they had hoped, residents and property owners on and near Long lake in Waushara county have had a lecture on Wisconsin public policy on the restriction of public access to public waters.

Public Benefit
Conservation Director Lester P. Voigt, in reply to a petition from Long lake residents and riparians demanding a fish planting program for the lake, has declared that the state cannot and won't undertake such a program because shore land owners have denied the public access to the water.

The lake is a sizeable one, northeast of Wild Rose, and just south of the Waupaca county line.

The petitioners asked for the planting of muskellunge and walleyed pike "and any other game fish you feel disposed to stock."

Voigt replied that state law prohibits such stocking, except as public access is permitted for general public benefit.

He added: "We have appealed to individuals interested in the lake as well as to the town and county boards for the development of public access to this lake but such action has not been forthcoming. Consequently, if you and your group can in some way bring about action to make access available on this lake, we will be most happy to consider your request for fish stocking in this body of water."

The petition contained 259 signatures.

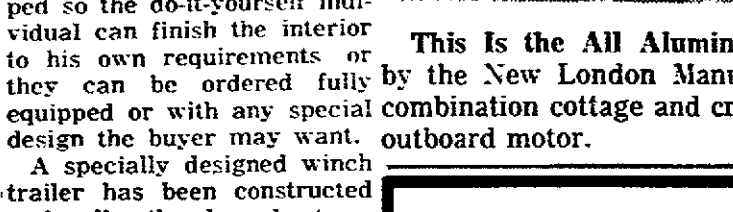

New London Firm Makes Houseboats

The New London Manufacturing company, New London, has announced production plans for its new all-aluminum houseboat. This combination cottage and cruiser underwent extensive test recently and it performed perfectly all the functions for which it was designed.

Built on two welded steel, bulkhead pontoons it draws only five inches of water. The roomy, 8 foot by 14 foot cabin is framed with white ash covered with aluminum. All doors and window sash are of aluminum construction. It has ample deck space fore-and-aft. Any motor from 15 horsepower up moves the craft easily and controls are all inside the cabin.

Production is geared for one a week for the present and they can be ordered stripped so the do-it-yourself individual can finish the interior to his own requirements or they can be ordered fully equipped or with any special design the buyer may want.

A specially designed winch trailer has been constructed to handle the houseboat so that it is completely mobile.

Step Up Efforts To Police Waters

Wardens Crack Down on Illegal Filling, Removal of Material

The state conservation department is stepping up its efforts to police Wisconsin waters against violations of the water use laws.

Conservation wardens have been under instructions to keep a wary eye upon enforcement of the laws covering stream impoundment, diversion for irrigation, removal of bottom materials or lake filling, all of which are intended to protect the public rights to scenic and navigable and fishing waters.

Be on Alert
Now the employees and district officers of other divisions are being asked to supplement those enforcement patrols.

Dr. E. W. Schneberger, chief of the state fisheries division, has asked all of the field workers of his department to be on alert for violations of the water use laws.

Two widely known retired conservation wardens, veterans of the state fish and game law enforcement service, have been honored in testimonial resolutions approved here by the state conservation commission.

They are Arthur C. Chase of Oshkosh, who retired last summer after 33 years on the warden force, and Harley T. McKeague of Rhinelander, who had 28 years of work as a warden.

Chase was honored as a recipient of the annual conservation warden efficiency award in 1950.

What Are You Getting For Your Money?

When your purchases concern your health, you want to know that the health products you buy come from reliable manufacturers... that they're as effective as modern science can make them.

But there is always a question when you buy health supplies from non-professional sources. Distribution of scientific, highly effective medications is confined by law to professional channels — your physician and your pharmacist.

Rely on your physician for treatment and your pharmacist for drug supplies... get the best that modern medicine affords.

One of Six Models in the new Ford Station Wagon series for 1959 is this 1959 Ford Country Sedan. The new Fords went on display this month at Coffey Motors, 103 E. Third street, Kaukauna. Ford station wagons are available in two- and four-door models, accommodating six or nine passengers. The new wagons have a cargo space eight inches longer and eleven cubic feet greater than in 1958, according to Leo Coffey, owner of the firm.

The 1959 Ford achieves greater fuel economy — saving up to one dollar per tank full of gasoline — with carburetion, compression ratios and spark advance curve tailored to regular grade gasoline, which is recommended for all standard Ford engines.

Ford has made a slight reduction in horsepower to offer the highest engine performance and operating efficiency in the normal driving range of 30 to 70 m.p.h. that ever Ford has built into any Ford car. Compression ratios have been tailored to obtain the maximum fuel economy consistent with Ford's traditionally high performance characteristics and present octane ratings, Coffey said Friday.

For top economy, Ford offers the "Mileage Maker Six" engine which will take the 1959 Ford owner more than 400 miles on a 20-gallon tank full of gasoline. Ford engines, with full-flow oil filters as standard equipment, are designed to go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

The new, aluminumized muffler, standard on all 1959 Fords, is built to last twice as long as conventional types. Another economy feature is the new Diamond Lustre finish, a super-enamel that requires no waxing during the lifetime of the car. This bright, durable paint is 50 per cent more chip-resistant than Ford's famous enamels of the past.

Further Ford economy is represented in the transmission selection. The new two-speed Fordomatic, redesigned to have two forward gear ratios and one reverse, has 27 per cent fewer parts than the former Fordomatic. Elimination of 105 parts and the use of aluminum for such items as the transmission case and bell housing have enabled Ford to reduce the transmission weight by 50 pounds, or 22.8 per cent.

yellow six-bottle carton with the large 3V on the front. HERE'S THE SIMPLE secret for treating all the visiting little ghosts and goblins right Halloween night. Pass out the kind of happy whole-some favorites you know their parents approve of, such as packages of any popular chewing gum. Kids love it, yet they can't overdo no matter how much they receive because chewing gum's never rich or filling.

By giving each caller a package of chewing gum, you treat the tricksters big without making a big dent in your pocketbook. And to be sure, you're not caught short, it's a good idea to pick up a few boxes of chewing gum the next time you go shopping. Then you'll be all set to really enjoy Halloween.

AN OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN, couple who celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary this year, are the oldest couple in this area to sign up for "65-Plus," the hospital-surgical policy for senior citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome H. Miller of Route 5, Fairview Beach, Oshkosh, are each 92 years of age.

Mr. Miller, a Carnegie Medal winner who saved a man from a horrible death by fire 50 years ago, commented that he had considered himself long past the age where he was eligible for hospitalization protection. "Continental Casualty Company did not even ask any health questions or for a physical examination for my wife or myself," said Mr. Miller. "I know this is good insurance," he continued, "because my son-in-law is in the hospital now and is being cared for by his group insurance policy from the same Company."

The 14TH ANNUAL TRADE Dinner of the Grocery Manufacturers' Representatives of Milwaukee will be held at the Schroeder Hotel in Milwaukee Friday evening, Oct. 24. New 16-OUNCE Cola Package Is Introduced in Appleton Area

3V COLA, a new cola drink which comes in a giant size 16 ounce bottle, was introduced in the Appleton area this week. The introduction of 3V Cola here is part of a huge drive to gain national distribution.

Experts in the soft drink field have called the 16 ounce cola bottle the most important packaging development in over twenty years when the 12 ounce bottle was first employed.

Max Alpert, president of Dad's Bottling Company of Oshkosh reports that acceptance of new 16 ounce 3V Cola by retail dealers has been exceptionally enthusiastic. He further said that everything indicates that the public will be just as excited about 3V Cola and quickly pointed out that the product has met with instant success in numerous major markets.

Recent consumer taste-tests, conducted in a major mid-west market, reveal that the 3V Cola flavor is comparable to, and many times preferred over more expensive colas.

The survey also showed that many housewives like 3V Cola because they can serve three children from a single 3V Bottle, and save money at the same time. Some women remarked that the bigger bottle saves refrigerator space and trips to the store.

Although just introduced, new 16 ounce 3V Cola is now available in many stores throughout the Appleton area. The new cola can be easily recognized by the big brown

Warmth and Elegance Is Word for Latest Carpet Fashions

Warm is the word for the newest carpets—in color, in wealth of pattern, and in feel underfoot, reports The Carpet Shop, 506 W. College Ave., Appleton. Beiges are in abundance this year with an emphasis on rosy tones. Terms like sandalwood, cinnamon, wheat, mocha, nutria, butternut and even "mink" describe the subtle color variations on the warm scale, adds The Carpet Shop.

Gold and copper colors, too, take on new prominence with spectacular effect. Glittering gold threads add their luxurious touch.

There are leading cool tones, too. The Carpet Shop states, with more aqua this year and more shades of green—some with a frosty look. True blues, with an advance decorating future, help to round out a palette with the greatest variety in carpet colors ever offered.

For those who prefer solid colors, there is new life introduced with moresque yarns (several colors twisted together) to lend sparkle to a one-tone look, reports The Carpet Shop, adding that today's carpet designers have the technical freedom to create, literally, a painting for your floor.

Wool, the basic carpet fiber is keeping up to the minute with new tufted versions and a wider color range than ever before. Viscose, Acrilan and other man-made fibers have reached perfection to build in color-fastness, strength and resistance to soil.

Pictured above are a few of The Carpet Shop's new Fall carpet selections: At top is a random weave, all-wool carpet with multi-colored highlights, while the next two floor coverings are all-wool tweed textured Wiltons with 3-level embossed patterns. Designed for a comfortable, relaxed atmosphere is the colorful carpet, with modern leaf and floral pattern, shown in the inset at right.

"We Are Going To Watch The Monkeys," is a common statement made by the youngsters when they go along shopping at the W. T. Grant store at Valley Fair. Here youngsters and parents alike can see the constant show put on by the monkeys, purchase a jar of food for their favorite pet parakeet, or hunt for a new species of tropical fish from the 30 varieties currently available. Pets from many parts of the world are available in the firm's modern pet department each day.

Monkeys to be seen at Grant's are of two distinct types: both originating from tropical Central American areas. The larger variety is the Capuchin monkey, a very suitable pet, and one which makes friends readily. The smaller monkeys are "Squirrel" monkeys, also firm pets and much more agile. They eat fruit, milk, peanuts and various vegetables. A number of other species are available by special request, the firm said Friday.

Popular with grade school pet lovers is the hamster. The little pets are mere miniatures of the original hamsters of Asia Minor, which attained a length of up to 12 inches. Needed supplies, such as hamster cages with exercise wheels and hamster food are stocked at Grant's.

Birds Popular
For bird lovers, the department has a large selection of canaries and parakeets. The season for singing canaries has just begun, Grant's point out, and top quality guaranteed singers are now in stock. Cages, bird toys and a complete line of canary foods are stocked to meet the needs of everyone's feathered pet.

Tropical Fish
Tropical fish are of increasing local interest, the store finds, and species native to many parts of the tropical world are on display. Tropical fish were first kept in England and Scotland. The fish have been available throughout the U.S. for the past 60 years, but only in the past 10 years has the hobby become a pet department. For those without a pet, huge family of plants lend a refreshing touch.

Three Named as Realtor Directors

Three Fox Cities men have been elected to 2-year terms as directors of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers. Most members of the Realtors are in Appleton. The new directors are: Edward Kadlac, Neenah; Leo Coffey, Kaukauna; and T. J. Sherry, Appleton.

Two 1959 Beauties now on display at Hietpas Motor Sales & Service, 514 Draper street, Kaukauna are the new Plymouth (top) and DeSoto. DeSoto was announced in late October, and Plymouth only recently. Barney Hietpas, owner of the firm, said the reception of the new models for 1959 has been especially enthusiastic this year. A fine selection of used cars, including trade-ins on the new models, is now in stock at the Kaukauna firm.

The 1959 Plymouth automobile line comes in 29 models, including the new sport Fury series, Hietpas Motor Sales said Friday.

The sport series offers swivel front seats as standard equipment. Swivel seats are optional on four other models. For the first time, Plymouth has two convertibles — the Fury and Belvedere line.

The 1959 Plymouth has undergone complete restyling. Design changes have been made in the grille, hood and front fenders. Added this companion to push-button dual tail lights.

There are 10 body colors available on an 23 2-tone combination. The series offers 32 interiors to match exterior makes the new model more body paints.

Other features include new instrument panels, remote control rear view mirror on the left front fender and an instant heater.

De Soto Developments The 1959 De Soto introduces two major styling and engineering developments, Barney Hietpas reported.

In its thirtieth anniversary line of 18 models in four series, De Soto offers swivel front seats and push-button temperature controls, new front fenders. Added this companion to push-button dual tail lights.

Similarly, the fin-shaped "Forward Look" styling has culminated in a design which makes the new model more massive, lower and wider in appearance.

It was disclosed that 13 accessories which were optional equipment last year have been made standard on many models, including power brakes, power steering and the safety cushion instrument panel.

Swivel Seat The most significant seating development, the swivel seat provides individual accommodations for both the driver and the front-seat passenger.

Each seat pivots outward in a 40-degree arc to facilitate ease of entry and exit. A pull-down padded arm rest divides the seats.

Phone number at Hietpas Motor Sales is RO-6-1735.

Better Fuel Economy, new two-toning and larger brakes are among the improvements in the 1959 Chevrolet Fleetside pickup, one of 139 truck models in the company's new line for 1959, now on display at Gibson Motors, Superior and Lawrence streets. An economy engine gives up to 10% better fuel mileage, with higher torque at normal speeds. A further economy carburetor-rear axle option is available on six-cylinder models.

Substantial fuel savings in the high-duty range, larger brakes on the medium-duty range, a new optional power train for 14 heavy-duty models, and durability improvements from engines through axles are top developments in the expanded Chevrolet truck line for 1959.

The model lineup is increased to 139 — three more than last year — on 22 different wheelbases. Gross vehicle weight ratings range from 4,000 to 36,000 pounds, with the sedan delivery increased to 4,900 pounds from 4,100. The 1959 line includes 96 conventional, 22 low-cab-forward, 8 forward-control, 6 tandem-axle, and 5 school bus chassis models in addition to the sedan delivery and a new luxury pickup to be announced later, Gibson's said.

Massive Styling Generally, the popular, massive, functional styling of 1959 is retained, with a new train for 14 of the 70 and 60 wheelbase pattern for Fleetside Series 2-ton trucks results in pickup. Cab interiors are re-upholstered to 12 per cent greater pulling power and greater efficiency in a wide range of hauling operations. Teamed together are a 165-horsepower, longer body which carries 348 cubic inch V8, heavier measure 56 inches on the inside or seven inches more than last year.

als, including the two Americans, had arrived.

Vatican sources said Cardinal Mooney's death would not affect the plans for the conclave.

The cardinals were quickly told of Cardinal Mooney's death and the news saddened the assembly. Once before since Pope Pius XII died Oct. 9, the ranks of the church's princes had been reduced. Celso Cardinal Constantini, 82, died Oct. 17.

This morning the cardinals walked in solemn procession in red and purple robes into St. Peter's basilica and prayed for Divine guidance in choosing a successor to Pius XII, who died Oct. 9.

There, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the college of cardinals, celebrated the "Mass of the Holy Spirit."

As the cardinals—nearly all of them created by Pius XII in two post-war consistories—prayed for guidance, there was word that the process for beatification of the dead pontiff would be started in the near future.

Qualities Needed

In an exhortation pronounced by Msgr. Antonio Bacci, the Vatican's Latin expert, they were urged to elect a pope "who is a teacher, pastor of souls and father to all people."

With bowed heads, the princes of the church listened to Msgr. Bacci's exhortation that underlined the importance of their task of choosing the 262nd pontiff.

"It is not enough," he said, "that the pontiff be gifted, that he knows human and divine sciences and that he have explored and experienced the subtle reasons of diplomacy and politics."

"That which is above all needed is a saintly pope, because a saintly pope can obtain from God even that which natural gifts do not give," he added.

The word "saint" was sometimes applied to the late Pius XII. The Italian press, including Rome's independent Messaggero, recalled that the Jesuit orator, Father Rotondi, in a funeral oration for Pius described him as a saint. The process of beatification, said Messaggero, is expected to begin soon for Pius XII.

Under centuries-old conclave procedure, as amended by the late Pius XII, he had the duty of exhorting the prince of the church to choose a capable pastor, and to do so in shortest possible time and with the greatest zeal.

Bridge to Heaven

"The new vicar of Christ," Msgr. Bacci said in his oration to the cardinals "should be a bridge between heaven and the earth, summoning wrongdoers and the errant onto the straight road and urging the good to even greater perfection."

"He should be a bridge between the social classes, a bridge between nations, even between those who reject

Nelson Offers Plan to Revise Government

Would Abolish 15 Overlapping Units, Form 2 Departments

Milwaukee — While national political figures campaigned in Wisconsin Friday, Gaylord Nelson, Democratic candidate for governor, announced what he called a "program paper" on Organization and Management of Wisconsin State Government.

In the 31-page paper, Nelson proposed abolishing "15 overlapping agencies" and combining their functions in two new departments.

Nelson added that if elected he would also consider recommending the abolition of 15 more agencies whose functions would be taken over by two more centralized departments.

He said he would immediately consolidate six small independent agencies into an integrated department of legislative services. Agencies he would combine to form it are the legislative reference library, the reviser of statutes, the staff of the legislative council, the state audit department and the staffs of the assembly and senate.

The nine agencies he would merge into a new department of administration and finance would be the department of budgets and accounts, the bureau of engineering, the bureau of purchases, the bureau of personnel, the administrative functions of the three retirement boards and the statutory functions of the state treasurer.

Doctors Report Pace of U. S. Living May Hasten Coronary

San Francisco — A medical research team has turned up some physical evidence suggesting that stresses imposed by living in the United States hasten coronary disease.

The investigators examined minutely the hearts and great arteries of 139 Negroes in South Carolina and 128 Negroes in Haiti. They found twice as much coronary artery hardening in the South Carolinians as in the Haitians.

Results of the study were reported today in a paper before the American Heart Association by Dr. Dale Groom of the Medical College of South Carolina at Charleston. Dr. Groom headed the undertaking.

Taken at Autopsy

The hearts and arteries were taken at autopsy, without regard to the cause of death. The amount of hardening, not necessarily enough to cause illness or death, was calculated in each case. The total amount of hardening material found was calculated for each group.

The two groups were regarded as being alike in everything except environment.

There were group differences in diet and climate which are items of environment, but these were not enough to explain the greater amount of disease in the Carolinians, Dr. Groom said.

This leaves social tension, competition and the complexity of modern living as the apparent differences which might account for the added disease state, Dr. Groom reported.

Dr. Groom said the findings failed to incriminate fat as a disease factor because the ing and remembering the local dignitaries, in smiling for the photographers, amateur and professional, and in granting the autographs sought at every stop.

But on the platform he presented a deadly serious appearance as he talked about the issues of the election including the issue of war or peace in the world as it is represented by the delicate conflicts with communist China.

A honorable peace, the vice president said again and again, is the issue in the country transcending all others.

Can Be Trusted

The Republicans have kept the peace for six years and they can be trusted to keep it with honor — if it is possible, he assured Wisconsin listeners.

He speaks clearly and firmly and confidently. Although he campaigns vigorously and weighs in at a trim 165, he appears older than his 45 years to those who hear him for the first time. The cartoonist's caricatured features are there — from prominently up-turned nose to luxuriant black beard.

On the airplane which traveled swiftly from stop to stop in Wisconsin, the vice president greeted local politicians and reporters who came aboard.

Gov. Thomson and Roland Steinle, Republican candidate for senator, made the whole trip with the vice president. District congressmen came aboard in their regions.

The vice president may be fond of the Green Bay Packers, or he may regard the team as a convenient conversation piece.

Repeatedly during his Wisconsin tour he commented smilingly that the Packers seem to win when he is in the stands.

Job With Packers?

The Packers might hire him to attend the games, he cracked at Oshkosh.

Aside from the theme that America cannot afford to surrender the Chinese island for fear of "inciting" the communists to attack elsewhere, Nixon developed the idea that the Eisenhower program of "conservatism" is the best and safest for most Americans.

"Democrats believe in big government and big spending, to achieve human happiness," he said.

administration objectives to vote—they must also go out and spread the story.

Letter Perfect

Nixon was nearly letter perfect in his platform performance—even to acknowledging the services of the St. Mary High school band which shivered in the cold blasts across the Oshkosh air field after playing greetings for the visitors.

Van Pelt recalled the Nixon troubles of six years ago when there was some doubt that he would remain on the ticket as the vice presidential nominee after the Chicago convention.

Nixon was being "smeared" said the Fond du Lac congressman, and he sent a telegram at the time to encourage him. Nixon, responding nicely, said he recalled the incident and expressed his gratitude.

Of Byrnes he said:

Very Close

"We've been very close. There is no man in the congress who has a greater respect of his colleagues." Nixon came into politics as a member of the house in 1946 when Byrnes was already a member.

Nixon spoke hatless but was clad in a black topcoat. He appeared uncomfortable in the cold but delivered a speech of the length he has usually offered at campaign stops. He was introduced by Van Pelt and Mrs. Mary Ising, Oshkosh, district GOP leader, presided at the rally.

Conservatives and Republicans prefer a prudent government that encourages the traditional virtues of individual enterprise and self-reliance, he said.

As if worried about the attitude of Wisconsin conservatives toward the administration, he also reminded that there is no other effective way for the conservatives to express themselves except in the Republican party.

The widely traveled vice president reminds audiences of his acquaintance with world affairs. "I have seen the hard faces of communists in 55 countries," he will say. Or, "he is one of the world leaders I have not yet met," he will reply when someone questions him about Egypt's Nasser.

First District

Kefauver will campaign today in the First district on behalf of Gerald Flynn, Racine, who is seeking the congressional seat left open by the death of the late Rep. Lawrence Smith, R-Racine. Smith's widow is the GOP nominee.

"The Republicans in California—especially Sen. Bill Knowland," Kefauver said, "are having plenty trouble from the Democrats out there." Knowland, former senate Republican leader, is the GOP candidate for governor of California.

Kefauver brushed Nixon off lightly, however, concentrating in his prepared remarks on President Eisenhower and the record of his administration.

Lack of Leadership

In campaign appearances this fall in several states, Kefauver said he had found "the underlying issue is the lack of leadership which the Republican administration provides in these perilous times."

"We have seen it in uncertainty and lack of decision in combating the recession," he said, "we have certainly seen it in the field of foreign policy where we have floundered steadily from one dangerous crisis to another."

"If Men Played Cards as Women Do" is the theme of one of six skits to be presented at the annual 2-day Harvest Home party Wednesday and Thursday nights at Riverview Country club. If the expressions of the faces of players, William A. Siekman, left, Vernon Cornelius, Herbert C. Crane and Kenneth Davis, are any indication, there must be quite a difference between card techniques.

Grown-Up Girl, 24, Can Make Own Decision, Right or Wrong

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: What can we do, about a 24-year-old daughter who says she's in love with a 24-year-old man? He has a 10-year-old child and a divorce in progress.

We don't know his family because he's from another state. He's had six jobs in five months—just goes from one thing to another. Our daughter will have to give up her religion to marry him but she says "it's worth it."

She told us he was a single fellow when she started to go out with him six months ago, although she knew then he was married. Is there any legal action that can be taken against him? Our daughter doesn't care what family friends, doctor or clergyman say. She claims she's crazy about him and nothing else matters. Can you help? —NORA.

If this girl refuses to listen to family, friends, doctor or clergyman, she won't listen to me, either—particularly since she didn't ask for my advice.

A girl 24 is an adult and you have no grounds for legal action against the man. He's not kidnapping her.

A part of your daughter's stubbornness is probably rooted in her hostility toward you. The more you fight the situation and deprecate the man, the greater will be her determination to marry him and demonstrate that she can and will do as she pleases.

You can't treat a 24-year-old as if she were 15. Simply withdraw and let her get the jumps the hard way. She's a big girl now.

DEAR ANN: My husband has not been on a payroll since Jan. 6 of this year. We have two small children, a home, a car, and bills. He sells insurance on a flat commission basis, when he feels like it. Unfortunately, he doesn't feel like it very often. His mother left a small estate and he's been dipping into that money which I hoped would be for the children's education. He's been bringing home a few dollars a week from the estate and pretending it's commission from his sales.

I've worked ever since our baby was 20 months old. I'm tired of it and want my husband to support us. I've been lying to my family and friends because I'm ashamed to tell them the truth. I don't know what in the world he does with his time. When I tell him to get a job or I'll leave him, he says "Goodbye."

My nerves are at the breaking point. What shall I do?—KCA.

What is your husband contributing to your marriage besides wisecracks? If he makes no effort to find work you have a right to tell him to get out. If then becomes a matter for the law if a man doesn't support his family. The little boy needs to grow up. Perhaps this will do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Get out the wet noodle. Your reference to a "North Dakota rattlesnake" was a great big honor and an injustice to a wonderful state.

There are no rattlesnakes in North Dakota. I lived there for many years and I ought to know. Perhaps you have your Dakotas mixed, for South Dakota has many. You can apologize any time, and the number of lashes with the wet noodle is up to you—EWZ.

Sorry, but the wet noodle is still on the inactive list. According to the curator in charge of reptiles at the Brookfield zoo in Chicago (and he ought to know!) there are many rattlesnakes in North Dakota. Could it be that they were born in South Dakota and crawled over the state line?

Betty Jane Nienke Says Vows With R. G. Puffer

At 11:30 a. m. today St. Mary Catholic church was the setting for the double ring nuptial ceremony in which Miss Betty Jane Nienke, 109 E. Atlantic street, became the bride of Richard G. Puffer. Miss Barbara Rosenberg, Appleton, served as maid of honor. Miss Barbara Young, Menasha, and Miss Margaret Goodhall, Appleton, were bridesmaids. Jack Puffer, Horicon, was his brother's best man. Russell Goodhall, Menasha, and Ralph Gillespie, Appleton, served as ushers.

There will be a 12:15 dinner for the new Mr. and Mrs. Puffer at the Pastyme supper club. Moose hall will be the scene of a reception from 2 to 5 p. m.

The bride is a graduate of Appleton High school and the Cradle Society Nursing school, Chicago. Mr. Puffer, also an Appleton High school graduate, has served in the navy for two years and is employed at the Neenah Foundry.

When they return from a honeymoon in northern Wisconsin, the newlyweds will make their home at 115 Gardeners row.

Forced Integration Won't Work, Minister Tells Club

New London — Forced school integration will not solve racial problems in the southern states, the Rev. W. E. McKeithen, pastor of First Methodist church here and formerly of Mississippi told the New London Business and Professional Womens club Wednesday night at the Elwood hotel.

The Rev. Mr. McKeithen said the recent supreme court decisions and recent other court actions are driving a wedge in the racial problem by trying to force integration. He maintained that integration will come when the people themselves attempt to right the situation out of love and tolerance.

Mrs. Evelyn Sumoi, chairman of the education, vocation, career and advancement committee, introduced the speaker.

"Public Relations and National Security" will be the theme for the Nov. 19 meeting. The committee consists of Mrs. James Cristy, Miss Grace Holtz, Mrs. Linda Leggett and Mrs. Gertrude Bloudey.

Hollywood—(P)—Is Hollywood wasting its star power? Gloria Swanson thinks so, and she isn't shy about saying it.

"Sure, I'd like to make pictures," she says. "But what can I do—hit the producers over the head and tell them they should hire me?" She isn't the only one. Look at the famous names who have scarcely made a movie in recent years:

Actress' Salary All Tied Up Over Chinchilla Coat

Dallas, Texas —(P)— Marie (The Body) McDonald gained legal right to $8,000 for a night club stunt here over the protest of a New York furrier. But while the case is on appeal, she probably will not get the money.

Miss McDonald's salary had been tied up by furrier Milton C. Herman who claimed the actress owed him $5,000 on a $7,000 chinchilla coat bought a year ago. She testified several days ago her former husband, Harry Karl, bought the coat and she had not seen it since last Christmas. Dist. Judge Paul G. Peurifoy ruled the singer's salary could not be claimed by the furrier but said his decision had no bearing on any alleged debt the furrier claims. Attorneys for Miss McDonald, in Chicago for a television show, conceded that the action by Herman will tie up the money until the appeals court makes a decision.

ONCE upon a time, there was a miller. He had 3 dogs. One day a friend visited the mill and noticed 3 doors cut in the wall... a small door, a medium size door, and a big door. "What," asked the miller's friend, "are those 3 doors for?" "Those are for my 3 dogs to go thru," replied the miller. "But why 3 doors?" puzzled the visitor. "Couldn't all 3 dogs go thru one big door?" "Heck, no!" exclaimed the miller. "When I say git—I mean GIT!" My customers are like the miller—when they want service—they want it FAST! And I can give it to them! All I need is more "doors" (outlets to you!) with FULL HOUSEPOWER. That means, a large enough service entrance... and enough circuits to let me get through fast to you. Dramatic Scene

Colorful Crowd Greet Arrival of Nixon Plane

BY DAVID APKER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh—The visit of Vice President Richard Nixon to the Oshkosh airport had all the colorful pomp and circum- stance that makes the Amer- ican political scene a drama- tic one.

More than 3,000 people and a live elephant braved chilly weather and leaden skies to await the vice president's ar- rival. Officials and dignitar- ies wearing colored identifica- tion ribbons scurried about ar- ranging last - minute details.

The rest of the crowd milled about the airport with the gay look of Christmas shoppers. Gaily - colored balloons bob- bed about above a sea of hats as the St. Mary High school band, of Menasha, played a steady stream of march music.

Reporters worked their way crowd surged forward and pictures and greet well-wish- ers before he climbed aboard form, through a mob of radio announcers and television cameramen.

Behind Platform

Behind the platform an hon- or guard of silver-helmeted American Legionnaires look- ed anxiously skyward as they prepared to greet the vice pres- ident's plane.

The arrival of two regular- ly scheduled airliners brought shouts of "There he is!" The false alarms served only to in- crease the excitement.

When the blue-gray airliner form and began slowly back carrying Nixon and his party to the plane, the rest of the agents appeared from no- tension was broken by a tre- mendous roar of cheers and a about the vice president.

Crowds Surges Forward

The plane had no sooner taxied to a stop, when the- to sign autographs, pose for pictures and greet well-wish- ers before he climbed aboard wave. The roar of cheers in- creased in tempo as a smiling Nixon appeared in the door of the plane.

Wearing a severely-tailored dark blue overcoat, the bare- headed vice president was es- corted by secret service men past the line of official greet- ers and across a long red carpet to the platform.

Watches Crowd

As Nixon spoke, a trench- coated secret service man stationed himself in front of the platform. Throughout the speech the agent's eyes never ceased their piercing stare at the crowd. At the least sign of anyone drawing too near the platform, he would step briskly up to the person and the courteously, but firmly, direct him backward.

When Nixon left the plat- form, the rest of the agents appeared from no- tension was broken by a tre- mendous roar of cheers and a about the vice president.

Whether by design or circum- stance, the wedge was ineffec- tual. Nixon took plenty of time to sign autographs, pose for pictures and greet well-wish- ers before he climbed aboard

Proxmire Will Back Bill on Labor Reform

Democratic Senate Candidate Talks to Twin City COPE

Menasha — Sen. William Proxmire, candidate for reelection on the Democratic ticket, pledged his vote in favor of the labor bill Democratic Sen. Jack Kennedy will introduce into the next session of congress when he spoke to a meeting sponsored by the Neenah-Menasha committee on political education at the Nicolet Local No. 148, hall Friday night.

Sen. Proxmire spent the day in Neenah — Menasha, touring Lakeview mill of Kimberly-Clark corporation with Warren Wilke, assembly candidate in the morning, plant gate and downtown hand-shaking, and a women's reception at the YWCA in the afternoon on his schedule.

He outlined provisions of the Kennedy-ives bill, co-sponsored by Kennedy and Republican Sen. Irving Ives of New York, before the labor group and said he would give strong support to the reintroduction of the bill which will give "the rank and file members greater control over their unions."

Defeated in House
Sen. Proxmire declared the bill was defeated in the house on a straight Republican vote after the senate had passed it.

In a radio talk Friday afternoon he challenged Secretary of Agriculture Benson to "discuss the real facts about the extremely serious new farm price collapse that American farmers are facing when he comes to Wisconsin." He called untrue a statement by Benson in Pittsburgh that "the American farmer never had it so good."

Wisconsin farmers, he argued, are averaging a return of only 32 cents an hour on their labor and the average net income of eastern Wisconsin dairy farmers is barely half as high in purchasing power as during 1947-49.

Ehrhott said he was going east when an oncoming car signaled for a left turn. He thought he had room to swing to the right but the car wheels became caught in the tracks. The steering wheel broke off, and his foot accidentally touched the accelerator and the car went 150 feet down the tracks.

Both sides of the car were damaged and a railroad crossing sign broken off.

He was going west and his car hit the gravel on the right side of the road while rounding a curve, then crossed over to the left side and into the ditch.

Determine Cause Of Child's Misdeeds

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.

Life with children would certainly be a lot simpler if for each misdeed there were a nice pat remedy that always worked.

But let's face it, the life of the parent of today who tries to do a good job with graduate and is employed at his children is far from simple.

Here are three 6-year-olds who each have done the same school alumnus and served four years in the air force.

purse, but each needs quite different handling. Billy took a quarter and went around the corner and bought a jet plane he's seen in the window on his way home from school. Billy was not secretive about his act. If his mother had been there he'd have asked for the money (and gotten it) but since she wasn't he just knew where it was and went and got it.

Tells Truth
When he showed his new toy to his mother and she asked where the money came from Billy quite unabashedly told her. To Billy this wasn't stealing. Money was to get things with. He's seen his mother reach into her purse vastly different children with for money — the magic that three vastly different motives gave you what you wanted — so he just did as he'd seen his mother do. Perhaps Billy was a little naive for a 6-year-old.

year-old, but he wasn't bad; all he needed was a little education.

Roddy also took a quarter from his mother's purse. But Roddy was careful that no one saw him do it. He spent the money for ice cream for some boys on the block. He didn't have enough money for one for himself, so he went without. Roddy was an unpopular little fellow who wanted desperately to be accepted by the other boys. He was trying to buy their friendship.

Roddy's Problem
Roddy's stealing was not his major problem. He lacked confidence in himself mostly because his family felt a great disappointment in him and unfortunately let him know it. Roddy was small for his age, not very strong, often had asthma. His father called him a sissy. Roddy needed help in developing the ability he did have and he needed appreciation from his family. The stealing of the quarter was only a tiny facet of his problem.

George also took a quarter from his mother's purse, George at 6, already had an allowance. He didn't really need any money — in fact he didn't spend the quarter. George was quite resentful of his mother. She was always busy, never interested in him, never had time to listen to him. She bought him things but what the child wanted was some evidence of her interest in him. His stealing from her purse was his way of telling her he'd grab from where the money came her what he wanted. It was from Billy quite unabashedly told her. To Billy this wasn't stealing. Money was to get things with. He's seen his mother reach into her purse vastly different children with for money — the magic that three vastly different motives gave you what you wanted — so he just did as he'd seen his mother do. Worry in itself has never solved a problem, but the First National Bank of Menasha has solved money problems for many Twin City people. That's our business. Rockets Move to Easy 37-7 Verdict Over Shawano High

Take 21-0 Halftime Lead;
Stilp Scores 3 Touchdowns

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Shawano — Neenah encountered only token resistance from Shawano here Friday night and swept to an easy 37-7 triumph over the Indians.

The victory was the fourth in Mid-Eastern conference play for the Rockets who have a tie and a loss. Shawano's record is 2-4.

The Rockets took advantage of almost every scoring opportunity they had. They ran through the line for 239 yards and added 81 through the air on a fifty eight completions in 10 tries.

They turned two intercepted passes and a fumble recovery into touchdowns had a perfect 5 for 5 in the extra point department through Don Jensen's efforts and added their first safety of the year. The Red and White only had to punt twice. It led 21-0 at halftime.

In the final minute the seniors went into the game at positions other than what they are used to playing, and sparked by end Don Jensen playing quarterback and quarterback Bill Kuehl at end, got a drive going which landed them inside the Shawano 15 before time ran out. Senior Steve Stilp, given a starting berth at fullback, led the Neenah attack with three touchdowns. Dale Ramich and Bill Fahrtenkrug each had one.

Shawano put together two long drives. A first quarter march was stopped by the Rocket defenders on their 20 and the final period jaunt against the reserves carried all the way for a touchdown after Neenah had made all of its points.

Neenah took over on the Shawano 48 after the opening kickoff, thanks to a nice return by Jensen, and advanced to the Indian 10 where a fumble was recovered by Shawano. The Indians recuperated and bobbled on the first play and Neenah took command on the 14.

Three plays later Stilp went around end for the final two yards and the first score. Shawano went all the way to the Neenah 20 after the next kickoff and through the combination of a 15 yard penalty and the Neenah defense was back on the 33 when it ran out of downs.

Shawano held and Neenah punted. Jon Laflin got a good roll on his boot and the ball stopped on the Shawano seven. The Indians were pushed back to their one, got off a short punt to the 18 and five plays later Stilp went over from the five.

Kuehl Intercepts
Late in the second frame, Kuehl intercepted a pass on the Shawano 27 and three plays later he pitched to Ramich for a 16-yard score. Jensen's kick made the score 21-0 all at halftime.

Shawano got to the Neenah 31 after the second half kickoff but the Rockets held. One play gained two yards and on the next Stilp broke through the middle on a quick opener and scampered 67 yards. Later in the same frame, Jensen intercepted a pass on the 20 and on the third play Fahrtenkrug tallied from the three.

Rockets Halted
Shawano's defense halted Neenah on the one early in the final frame. Roger Dodge tried to run from punt formation on the first play but was smeared by Jensen and Gary Bayer for a safety to close the Neenah scoring. Neenah got back to the Indian 18 after the next kickoff but its drive stalled and Shawano moved all the way up the field for its score. Harley Lyons passed to Guy Booth for 10 yards and then tally and Lyons passed to Dodge for the point. Jensen and Kuehl combined on a couple of passes and the former gained 22 yards on a run to senior squad's game-ending drive.

Omro Takes 26-12 Win Over Winneconne

Gets Possession of 'Little Red Bull,' Wolves Return Kickoff for 82-Yard TD

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Omro — Winneconne uncorked a rare play that set up an 82-yard touchdown run but that was not enough to spoil Omro's homecoming and the Foves took a 26 to 12 victory from the Wolves and possession of the Winneconne-held Little Red Bull.

The play, which Winneconne Coach Louis Plum said they thought up during the day, began with Omro kicking off to Bryce Schmude who had trouble picking the ball up on the 20. With a host of

Griddler Injured

Winneconne — Eugene Bietler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bietler, route 1, Larsen, received a head injury in Friday night's game against Omro and is hospitalized at Theda Clark hospital at Neenah. X-rays are to be taken today. A senior tackle and defensive line backer, he was injured in the first quarter.

Omro tacklers descending on him, Schmude grabbed the ball, tossed a long overhand pass to Halfback Doug Korn who was two yards behind him on the other side of the field. Korn took the pass and headed straight for the goal posts 82 yards away, evading one Omro tackler about 30 yards from the touchdown.

Korn, Larry Zink and Bryce Schmude piled up yardage record while All Day Suckers, back Dave Alto of Omro proved a hard man to stop once are tied for second with 10-8 each.

Charles Baker scattered the pins for a big 234 line in the Pen and Hammer circuit, game and Walter Ackerman 226 line in the Bergstrom with 14-7 while three teams, a marker. Beck converted on Men's league. The Personnel Cigarette Service, Hardwood team leads with 11-6½ while Products and Bob's Printing Millwrights and Electricians Service, have 13-8 marks.

he got rolling and he was an easy man to get rolling. Jerry Mueller and Jim Michels also were ground gainers and End Dick Butkiewicz was a frequent receiver of Bob Beck's passes. Alto scored three of Omro's touchdowns.

Score in First Minute
Omro scored the first time it had the ball and with only about a minute gone. Alto went over from the 17 after the ball moved from the Omro 10 to the Winneconne 17 when Tom Kuehn took a reverse handoff on the kickoff from Jim Michels and stepped off 73 yards. The conversion attempt failed.

Later Winneconne's Jerry Kuhr recovered an Omro fumble on the 13 and Zink went over for the touchdown on the next play. A conversion kick was blocked. Neither side could do anything other than pick up a first down or two until early in the second quarter when Winneconne advanced the ball to the 3 but failed to score.

Penalty Helps Omro
The Foves unleashed a 13-yard run by Michels, plunges by Alto and, with a 15-yard roughing the passer penalty against Winneconne, pushed the ball up to the 8. Michels moved it up to the 3 from where Alto went over for Omro's second touchdown. Beck's run was good for the conversion.

Omro then kicked off to Winneconne and the Wolves uncorked their starter which gave them a second touchdown on Korn's 82-yard run. The conversion failed and Winneconne trailed 13 to 12 at the half.

The Foves scored their third touchdown when Alto skirted right end for six yards. The fourth touchdown came when Beck picked up a loose Winneconne fumble on the sidelines for a 26 yard score. Beck converted on a delayed action buck and Omro moved out of danger to a 26 to 12 victory.

Kimberly Rallies To Win, Retains Hope for Title Tie

Vanden Heuvel's 11-Yard TD Run Stops Stubborn Ghosts, 13-7

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kaukauna — The Kimberly Papermakers kept alive their hopes for a share of Mid-Eastern conference laurels here Friday afternoon, battling from behind in the fourth quarter to take a 13 to 7 win over a stubborn band of Kaukauna Galloping Ghosts.

Kimberly now has a record of five wins and one defeat, going into next week's game with Menasha, the undefeated leaders.

Most of the season, Kimberly relied on a strong air attack to overwhelm the opponents but Friday it was the bull-like charges of fullback Dan Vanden Heuvel that paid off in victory. Bob Frassetto kicked the point after the winning touchdown.

Drags 2 Defenders
Vanden Heuvel scored the winning tally from 11 yards out, dragging two defenders across the goal with him about midway through the final period. He also set up the touchdown by accounting for three first downs in the 36-yard march.

The Papermakers started the winning drive after a quick kick by Jim Steger traveled only four yards and he failed to put the invaders into a hole as was expected. Steger punted from the Kimberly 48-yard stripe and the Papermakers took over on their own 44.

Kimberly threatened in first period after Frassetto intercepted a Kaukauna aerial in yardage (295 to 13) to give Kimberly the ball (119) and in first downs (13 to 4) but the alert, fighting Cardinals stiffened when the Red Devils threatened. Fondy intercepted two passes in the final period and recovered two of the four East fumbles in the game.

The Ghosts kept possession of the ball and marched just converted. West outgained the Kimberly 22-yard stripe Ed Manty, 284 yards to 28.

Keith Lambie Scores Three Times in Rain-Pelted Game

Two Rivers—Fullback Keith Lambie ran for three touchdowns and quarterback Leon Westphal for two as the Clintonville High school football team ground out a 35-0 victory over Two Rivers in a steady downpour here Friday night.

Four Clintonville touchdowns and a Trucker safety came as the result of either Raider fumbles or pass interceptions by the winners. The conditions inspired two Clintonville fumbles. The winners recovered them both.

Most of the game was played deep in Purple Raider territory. The bruising Lambie blasted over for the initial TD from the 1-yard line, after Westphal had recovered a Two Rivers fumble on the losers' 40. Westphal booted the extra point and it was 7-0 at the quarter.

In the second period, Raider quarterback John Boutin fumbled in the end zone and was downed for a safety.

Later, Westphal intercepted a pass and returned to the Two Rivers 19. From there the winners moved to the 2-yard line and Lambie crashed over. The Clints snatched another fumble, this time on home team's 38 and Westphal went over from the 2-yard line. His kick was good and it was 22-0 at the half. The winners' lone third quarter score came when Trucker guard intercepted a pass on the hosts' 25. Lambie smacked over from the one.

After a short Two Rivers punt, the Clints took over on the Raider 30. They moved to the 5 where Westphal went in on a keeper. He booted the extra point.

West DePere Tips Seymour High, 20 to 7

Seymour—West De Pere rallied from a 7-0 deficit to score a 20-7 Northeastern Wisconsin conference victory over Seymour here Friday night. Rain turned into a muddy, slippery quagmire.

The winners went ahead briefly in the second period when Lynn Prelipp fired a 25-yard scoring aerial to Byron Wendt. Larry Mory counted the extra point on a quarterback sneak.

West De Pere cut it to 7-6 when halfback Albers ran back the kickoff 75 yards to paydirt. The winners took a 13-7 lead in the third quarter as fullback Strenn blasted over from 15 yards out on a reverse, and a conversion try, from placement, was good. In the fourth quarter Albers cut off tackle for 13 yards and the final TD.

Seymour is now 1-5, West De Pere is 3-3 in the league.

Green Bay — "The Moon Is Blew," the headline said, referring to Coach Ray McLean's pre-season statement that his Green Bay Packers would shoot for the moon.

With the National Football league campaign one-third over, McLean now would gladly settle for his first victory. He needs one urgently. So do his players.

It could come Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles. Surely, it should come.

Superior Statistically

The statistics show that the Packers, despite their 0-3-1 record, are superior to the Eagles, regardless of their 1-3-0 record.

The odds-makers rate the Packers 3-point favorites.

McLean has decided to use an old remedy in an effort to bag victory No. 1 — the shake-well treatment.

"Babe" Parilli will get the call at quarterback in place of Bart Starr and Al Carmichael will start at running back in place of Don McIlhenny.

He also plans three changes in the line: rookie Jerry Kramer at offensive guard, replacing Jim Salsbury; Tom Bettis at middle linebacker, replacing rookie Ray Nitschke; and Jesse Whittenton, a recent acquisition from the Chicago Bears, at defensive safety, replacing John Symank. Nitschke will alternate with Dan Currie, another rookie, at left linebacker.

The National Football league, a park-packing operation even on a quiet Sunday, adds some feudin' and fussin' this time around — to the jingle of the coin boxes from coast to coast.

If stadium overflows are permitted under local laws in Baltimore and San Francisco, they'll have them tomorrow when the Washington Redskins play the Colts at Baltimore's Memorial stadium and the Chicago Bears meet the 49ers at Kezar stadium in San Francisco.

They are feudin' and fussin' these four — the Colts with the Redskins because of remarks Washington owner George Preston Marshall made at a Baltimore luncheon, and the 49ers and the Bears because of complaints that NFL officials occasionally look the other way for "Papa Bear" George Halas.

Albert Retorts

"Wait 'til we get you Sunday," was the Colts' reply after Marshall took outspoken exception to a Colt player's quip that the "Skins didn't give him train fare home when he was cut from the roster a few years back.

"Wait till we get you back home," was Coach Frankie Albert's answer to the Bears' 28-6 whipping of the 49ers in Chicago two weeks ago.

Tomorrow's the day there is a good deal at stake in each game, features of a full 6-game NFL Sunday program.

In the others, the Cleveland Browns bid for their fifth straight victory against the Cards at Chicago, the Detroit about yet They are Paul Brown of the Browns and "ole debbils," let us remind "Weeb" Ewbank of the Colts. That leaves five. "Buck" Shaw of the Eagles can't say bon, being right there in Philadelphia where Commissioner Bert Bell stores his pistols.

Four to go — "Buddy" Parker of the Steelers, "Pop" Ivy of the Cardinals, Jim Lee Howell of the Giants, and McLean's Ivy is just down from Canada and it takes time to pick up our Americanese. Parker can't possibly say anything that would compare to his farewell speech one night in Detroit, anyway. Howell and McLean are alike — both restrainers.

Lest you think that the five named in paragraph 2 are "ole debbils," let us remind that they are "posted" today because they exploded in public. All 12 of them explode but they do it on the telephone to Philadelphia or in the dressing rooms. If all 12 yakked in public, the sports

Green Bay — Ray McLean has displayed great restraint compared to some of his head coaching colleagues in the National football league. The Packer field chief has experienced a 0-3-1 season thus far — and he has yet to publicly blast an official or otherwise rip anybody open in the public prints.

Two Are Unbeaten

Now that's quite a novelty. Of the dozen NFL head coaches, five of them have unzipped their lips — Sid Gillman of the Rams, George Halas of the Bears, Frank Kuharich of the Redskins, George Wilson of the Lions, and Frankie Albert, of San Francisco.

Fox Lutheran Trips Waldo

24-13 Triumph Is Foxes First Win Of '58 Season

Fox Valley Lutheran scored its first victory of the 1958 football season Friday afternoon, a 24-13 triumph over Waldo High on the losers' field.

Fox right half David Reschke caught a pair of touchdown passes and left half Dennis Anderson passed for one TD and ran for another.

Bob Luebke's 30-yard scoring aerial — to Reschke — gave the Foxes a 6-0 halftime bulge. Waldo took the lead in the third quarter when quarterback Russ Heinen intercepted a flat pass and sprinted 70 yards to paydirt. A running try for the conversion made it 7-6.

Bounce Back

The Foxes bounced back later in the period when Anderson ran over from the 6-yard line. Anderson tossed to Luebke for 16 yards and a touchdown and then Reschke bucked over right tackle for 12 yards and a score to make it 24-7 in the fourth stanza.

A penalty gave Waldo one more play after time had run out and Heinen ploughed over from the 1-inch line. Anderson gained 107 yards in 18 carries for the winners, who are now 1-5-1.

New Holstein High Blanks Plymouth, Cinches Title Tie

Friday's Results:

New Holstein 6, Plymouth 0
Sheboygan Falls 12, Chilton 13
Kiel 20, Brillion 6

New Holstein—Chilton scored 13 points in the second quarter Friday night to equal Sheboygan Falls' first period output and the clubs ended up in a 13-13 Eastern Wisconsin conference deadlock at Sheboygan Falls.

In other action, New Holstein clinched at least a tie for first place by blanking defending champion Plymouth, 6-0, and Kiel whitewashed Brillion, 20-0.

Sheboygan Falls' Jim Kolhagen scored on a 20-yard run and quarterback Dave Wackett fired a 30-yard TD aerial to end Steve Montaba. Bill Boldt kicked the extra point.

Chilton roared back with quarterback Don Hoffmann firing a 30-yard scoring fling to twin brother Mike Hoffmann, a halfback. Pete Hoffmann ran for the extra point. Later in the second period Mike sprinted 10 yards into the end zone for the tying TD. Neither club threatened in a second half which was played in the rain.

Big Yardage Pull
Sheboygan Falls rolled up 362 yards to Chilton's 163 but had just nine first downs to Chilton's 11.

Kiel counted two touchdowns in the first quarter. One was on the third play of the game, a 72-yard off-tackle jaunt by Bill Karls. Halfback Ken Gast went over from the 3 for the second. Fullback John Wolsdorf blasted over for the extra point after the second TD.

In the second quarter Kiel blocked a Brillion punt deep in Lion territory and quarterback Gene Vogel pitched an 8-yard scoring pass to Karls. Vogel then booted the extra point.

The winners owned an 83-edge in first downs and a 243-84 bulge in total yardage.

Police Break Up Grid Gambling Racket On Michigan Campus

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Police announced today the breakup of a football gambling racket on the University of Michigan campus which took in upward of $10,000 weekly from students.

Three students are to be charged formally Monday with conspiracy to violate state gaming laws, police said.

Police said the gambling in-

Wall Game Has First Score In 49 Years

Eton, England.—The young bluebloods of Eton college shook the mud off their football jerseys yesterday and blinked.

Someone had just made a score in the ancient wall game—for the first time in 49 years.

The wall game—played nowhere except at the famous old school—is regarded by English aristocrats as part of the essential training to give their sons the true British stuff upper lip.

It is played on a 4-foot strip of field alongside a wall, with 11 players on a side. The idea is to hack a football along the wall with your boots to the far end, then roll it up the wall with your foot and touch it with your hand—if the rest of the players will let you.

The historic score was made by 17-year-old George Meyrick.

His teammates clapped him politely, said "well played, old chap," and trudged back to the college for tea.

pages would have to be printed in blue, or is it red? McLean has had plenty to belt about. That shoe polish incident in the Colt game—plus the quick whistle on Unitas' fumble—ugh! try these.

No Particular Call
Wilson was downright disgusted with Referee Ron Gibbs. George claimed that Colt Jim Parker kicked Lion Gil Mains when he was down, and that Gibbs saw it, but never called it. Parker said later that Mains "intimidated me."

Gillman didn't point to any particular call but noted that the officials ruled 94 yards in penalties on his team in the first half in the Bear game Sunday in Wrigley field.

What's more, two of his assistant coaches claimed the Bears were listening in, via wiretapping, on their telephones from the scouts' nest in the press box to the bench. They pulled a few "intentional" test plays and the Bears were ready for them.

George Halas got mad at the accusations and claimed he heard some Ram voices saying "get Galimore." This was termed a smoke screen in view of the Rams' charges.

The Ram press noted that the game's referee was Mr. Downes of Chicago who never called the "penalty" when Halas stepped out of the 40-yard limits.

The incidents have a familiar ring. Back in '47 in Wrigley field, the Packers' phone line to the bench suddenly went dead early in the game. There wasn't a repairman to be had.

Everybody acted dumb. And speaking of "getting" somebody how about the Bear "recovered" to anybody who could knock Bob Mann's mustache off in the Wrigley field episode of '51 Bob didn't lose his soup strainer but he suffered a leg injury that knocked him out of the next two games.

Officiating in Wrigley field? Ugh, and can you forget that silly business on Joe Johnson's touchdown? And Bill George calling the play for the official? There ought to be a law against ball players and coaches signalling decisions!

Braves Give Delayed OK To Conley

Milwaukee.—The Milwaukee Braves said Friday night it's all right with them if pitcher Gene Conley plays basketball with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball association.

"Conley has a background in professional basketball, a thing uncommon to most baseball players," said president Joseph C. Barnes in announcing the Braves' decision.

Conley's playing with the Celtics violates a section in his 1-year standard baseball contract but Barnes said he met with the General Manager Jonn Quinn and "Birdie" Tebbetts, executive vice president and they decided there was no reason they should stand in Conley's way.

The 6-foot-8 right-hander, who had a disappointing 1958 season with the National league champion Braves, signed with the Celtics Thursday in Boston for an undisclosed amount. He averaged 10 points a game as he tried out with the Celtics during the exhibition series.

Kimberly took the second half kickoff and were held and forced to punt. Two plays later the Papermakers regained possession as Frassetto fell on a Bill Britten fumble on the Kaukauna 47. Here Kimberly started a march after a 19-yard touchdown pass was nullified by a penalty.

The air-minded winners went right back to work and finally scored on a 5-yard touchdown pass from Don Hearden to Jack Lamers.

The tally came after the Ghosts had held Kimberly for only two yards in three running plays. The try for point was blocked. After the kickoff, Dan Vanden Heuvel picked off a Kaukauna pass but on the very next play Mark Nagan pilfered a Hearden pass to give Kaukauna possession on the Kimberly 40.

The Ghost touchdown came on a pass from Jim Steger to Bruce Ludke good for 26 yards. Roy Brownell kicked the extra point to give Kaukauna a 1-point lead.

The teams exchanged punts, one the short kick which led to the winning tally. Kimberly scored another touchdown in the final period, but a 15-yard penalty nullified the score.

Britten Gains 73 Yards
An intercepted pass by Joe Bolwerk gave Kimberly possession late in the fourth period and the winners threatened before being halted on the Kaukauna 17-yard line. Kaukauna had time for one pass play, good for 27 yards as time ran out in the game.

Bill Britten was the workhorse for the losers, carrying 24 times for a total of 73 yards. Jim Steger playing only in the second half, carried the ball six times for 28 yards.

Vanden Heuvel carried 16 times for 60 yards for the winners, but most of his yardage came in the second half drive to the winning tally. Hearden carried eight times for 35 yards as he proved dangerous both on the ground and in the air.

The Papermakers were limited to 44 yards rushing the first half but bounced back with 77 in the second. Kaukauna meanwhile chalked up 73 yards rushing in the first half but was limited to 32 in the second.

College Grid Attendance Shows Gain

Big 10 Crowds, However, Drop 2,000 Per Game

By the Associated Press

During the first half of the 1958 season, attendance at college football games has registered gains ranging from the moderate to the spectacular in all but four major conferences.

The over-all picture in mid-season statistics gathered by the Associated Press, shows a comfortable gain of 3.33 per cent. The average major college game this year has been played before 25,063 spectators, an increase of 811 over the average for a comparable period last year.

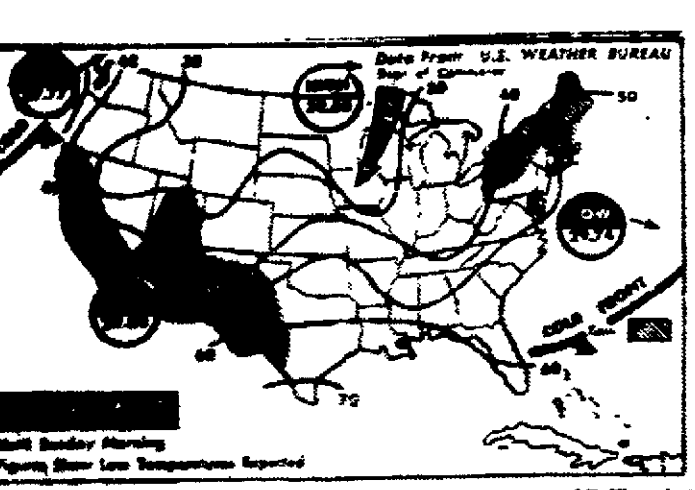

Only in the Big Ten, the Big Eight, Missouri Valley and Southern conferences has attendance declined. The dips range from 4.82 per cent in the Missouri Valley to 0.61 per cent in the Southern.

Big 10 Crowds Drop
Biggest increase, percentage-wise, was registered in the Skyline, where crowds have been 16.24 per cent higher.

Conversely, Big Ten crowds dropped more than 2,000 per game but in percentages it was only a 3.80 decline.

A number of apparently minor factors had their effect on sectional changes. For instance, the University of Detroit's three home games on Friday night this year, instead of Saturday afternoon, and the extra 22,000 fans who turned out produced a sharp increase in the average for a small group of Midwestern independents.

The University of Wisconsin increased the capacity of Camp Randall stadium and the larger turnouts there helped offset losses at Michigan, Illinois, Northwestern and Minnesota.

Rainy Skies Cling to Fox Cities

Foreboding skies and rainy weather continued to cling to the Fox Cities today.

Wisconsin weather in general was mostly cloudy, windy and cool. Showers were reported throughout the state.

Prospects for Sunday are fair and not much temperature change. High today in the 50's. Low tonight between 28 and 35 in the northwest and 32 to 40 in the southeast.

Showers dampened opposite corners of the country—the northeast and the southwest—but a big slice of sunshine was sandwiched in most places between.

Appleton temperatures for C Farm and Chicago bar (13-8) pace the wheel.

More Regions Will End Daylight Time

Most of the areas still on daylight savings time switch back to standard time this Sunday.

This includes the northeast and much of the eastern part of the country, as well as several other areas.

Three states, California, Wisconsin and Minnesota, as well as portions of other states went back to standard time last month.

New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Washington, D.C., much of Pennsylvania, and parts of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Illinois, including the Chicago metropolitan area, go back to standard time this weekend.

A Japanese Who Once Hated Americans has been turned by faith in God to the love of all mankind. The Japanese is Captain Mitsuo Fuchida, leader of the air attack on Pearl Harbor, who was once tried as a war criminal and acquitted.

After the war, in the countryside of Japan, he began to think of peace. He wondered what could transform hatred into brotherly love. Then a returning prisoner told him of a Christian American girl who ministered to him in camp, even though her parents had been killed by the Japanese. Also, he learned how the hatred of a Doolittle bombardier had turned to love while reading the Bible in a Japanese prison.

Fuchida bought a Bible. Reading Christ's words on the cross, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do," he knew Christ was the power to transform hatred into love. He became a devoted Christian. Today, he preaches to his countrymen, and heads the Sky Pilots of America in Japan, a leading Christian youth organization.
